May 27, 2019

WeirFoulds is pleased to announce that John Wilkinson has been awarded the 2019 John Hackett Memorial Award by the Canadian Association of University Solicitors (CAUS).

The John Hackett Memorial Award was established to recognize significant contributions made by a member to the Canadian Association of University Solicitors and is presented to a member who has earned the respect of the association and has demonstrated a dedication to goodwill, friendship and rigorous legal scholarship in university legal issues.

"We are very proud that John is this year's recipient of the John Hackett Memorial Award," says Managing Partner Wayne Egan. "The award recipient is described as one who has earned the respect of CAUS members and recognizes the important, kind and thoughtful contributions they have made to the association as a whole. John consistently practices law in this way, and has deservedly won this award reflecting the appreciation and recognition of his peers."
