

Lisa Borsook Honoured by Canadian Civil Liberties Association for Excellence in Law

April 27, 2017

WeirFoulds is pleased to announce that Executive Partner Lisa Borsook was honoured at the 2017 Canadian Civil Liberties Association (CCLA) annual gala.

The gala celebrated extraordinary Canadians from all walks of life from across a number of industries, and featured former U.S. intelligence officer turned whistleblower, Edward Snowden, as the special guest speaker.

Lisa was honoured for Excellence in Law. This well-deserved honour comes on the heels of her recent induction into the Women's Executive Network's (WXN) Top 100 Hall of Fame.

Our firm and clients have long benefited from Lisa's exceptional skills as an accomplished lawyer, a committed role model and a passionate contributor to her community. A leading authority in property development, commercial leasing and infrastructure, Lisa represents local, national and international clients in her practice areas.
